Certain aspects of municipal administration have been adversely commented on from time to time in recent years. The question whether it would be possible to effect an improvement by the closer association of Government officials with municipal administration was explored.

The question of controlling suitable quarters for Government officials in certain parts of the Presidency was discussed.

The possibility of extending to the Revenue Department the duty of collecting on behalf of local boards fire tax and certain other revenues due to them was considered.

The state of modern resources was examined, and the questions whether under the circumstances it is necessary in the interests of the revenue administration and of the public to make them was considered.

In recent years the number of village panchayat courts has increased, very largely and the volume of work performed by these courts and by the village courts has increased to such an extent that the regular inspection of the records and accounts of these courts is rapidly becoming too large for the existing inspecting agency to deal with adequately. The various means of dealing with this problem were examined in detail.

A number of questions relating to the organization, pay and emoluments of Government subordinates and certain technical points in connection with the present administration were discussed in detail.

RICE PRICES—LOCAL. 1937—Review.

The average retail prices of food grains during the month differed very little from those in the previous month.

The price of ragi fell by 5 per cent in Kibson and Shyela and by 7 per cent in Polson. The price of cholein fell by 5 per cent in Nallam and by 15 per cent in Tinnervally, but rose by 7 per cent in Ramnad. The price of canbin fell by 5 per cent in Ramnad. The rise in the price of cholein in Ramnad was due to the fact that during the month under review, cholein was not available for sale at Perambakudi in which the price was very low in the previous month.

1. Prices in the month were generally higher than in April 1936. The price of rice was however 10 per cent lower in Guajan.

Prices were higher by 10 to 20 per cent for rice in West Godavari, Kistna, Bellary, Anantapur,

Cuddapah, the Carnatic and North Arcot, for ragi in Guajan, Eluru and West Godavari, Kistna, Anantapur, Nallam, Chingleput, Nallam and Chittoor, for cholein in East and West Godavari, Kistna, Guajan, Karnool, Nallam and Tinnervally, and for canbin in East Godavari, Guajan, Karnool, Anantapur, Cuddapah, Nallam, Chittoor and North Arcot.

Prices were higher by more than 25 per cent for ragi in Guajan, Karnool, Cuddapah and Tinnervally, for cholein in Bellary, Anantapur and Cuddapah, and for canbin in Kistna.
